Congratulations, Class of 2020

There is always a way through.

This thought has been running through my mind a lot over the last couple of months. Way back at the beginning of winter quarter, who would have thought we would be holding our 2020 Commencement in the context of a global pandemic?

It is truly humbling to see the strength of the UW Tacoma community. And I do not just mean dealing with all the changes since March 2020. Life throws us curveballs on a regular basis, and yet we persevere. We find a way through. Today, June 13, 2020, we celebrate 2,000 UW Tacoma students who found their way through to their UW degrees.

You in the Class of 2020 did not do it alone. Faculty, staff, parents, friends, loved ones, peers, community members—all of us stand alongside you and support you.

For Leticia Romo Bueno, '20, BA Criminal Justice and the 2020 Chancellor's Medalist, finding a way through meant overcoming the disadvantages of growing up in poverty and the disruptions of immigration.

For Theron Taylor, '20, BA Psychology, finding a way through meant discovering the power of education while serving a 20-year prison sentence, and starting a campus group for formerly-incarcerated students.

Standing alongside Leticia and Theron are people like Justin Wadland and Dr. Sharon Laing. Wadland is the UW Tacoma Library Interim Director and recipient of the 2020 UW Distinguished Librarian honor. He has devoted much of his career to digital scholarship and helped establish the UW Tacoma Digital Commons. Laing is an assistant professor of nursing and healthcare leadership and a recipient of the Provost's 2020 Undergraduate Research Mentor Award. She is dedicated to helping her students find a way through.

And now you, members of the Class of 2020, as freshly minted University of Washington degree-holders, have a collective responsibility to help others find their way through to their dreams. Go out into the community as workers, leaders, voters, parents, caregivers, partners, and maybe even as students again, and stand alongside those that need you. You have our blessing and our gratitude.

Congratulations again, Class of 2020!

Mark A. Pagano
Chancellor

Awards & Recognition

Each year at Commencement we recognize outstanding faculty and students. These awards are symbolic of the many hundreds of public servants and thousands of students at UW Tacoma working together to foster a thriving and equitable society.

CHANCELLOR'S MEDAL

The Chancellor's Medal recognizes an individual who has been a consistent source of inspiration for faculty and fellow students alike, and who has overcome significant obstacles in order to complete a degree.

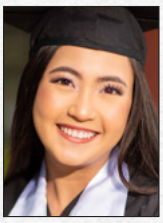
Leticia Y. Romo Bueno is the first person in her family to attend and graduate from college. Her educational journey has been long and arduous. Born in Mexico, Romo Bueno grew up in what she calls "extreme poverty." Her early life consisted of school, long days working alongside her parents harvesting seafood and helping raise her younger siblings. Romo Bueno came to the United States at the age of 13. Once here, she endured homelessness and abuse by her then boyfriend. Romo Bueno overcame those hardships and found stability in the classroom. "Education has always been a constant in my life," she said. "It's always been the thing keeping me together." Romo Bueno completed her associate's degree at Green River College before transferring to UW Tacoma. The mother of two will graduate today with a degree in criminal justice and is this year's Chancellor's Medalist.

PRESIDENT'S MEDAL

The President's Medal recipient is selected from graduating seniors with the most distinguished academic record. This year's medalist earned a 4.0 GPA.

Brooke Nicole Carlaw started her collegiate journey at Colorado State University (CSU) where she intended to pursue a degree in veterinary medicine. Along the way, Carlaw took a psychology course and found she had a passion for the subject. "I really wanted to understand why people think the way they do and so that's why I ultimately made the leap of faith and switched to psychology," she said. A Washington native, Carlaw moved back to the Pacific Northwest to attend UW Tacoma. While on campus she has been busy researching eyewitness misidentification in Dr. Stephen Ross' Center for Applied Social Cognition Research. Carlaw committed herself to academics while at UW Tacoma. Her hard work paid off. Carlaw is this year's President's Medalist for the Tacoma campus. Carlaw plans to continue her education in the fall at CSU where she will begin work on a Ph.D. in cognitive psychology.

STUDENT SPEAKER



Amica G. Atienza came to the United States from the Philippines at the age of four. The oldest of three siblings, Atienza grew up in Federal Way. She attended Highline College during her junior and senior years in high school through the Running Start program before transferring to UW Tacoma. Atienza graduates with a degree in biomedical sciences, a path she decided on after considerable deliberation. "I had to find out what I was passionate about," she said. "As it turns out, I'm really interested in early childhood development, prenatal care and women's health. Atienza plans to spend the next year working before applying to graduate schools. Her long-term goal is to become an obstetrician.

DISTINGUISHED COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT AWARDS

Community engagement is built on the spirit of partnership and reciprocity, a process that values community knowledge and contributes to it in a manner that is respectful of our partners. The true spirit of community partnership is achieved through a deep and sustained relationship with partners who engage in the co-production of knowledge. These partnerships improve the everyday lives of community members, and contribute to our public research and pedagogy.

Dr. Katie Baird is a professor of economics in the School of Interdisciplinary Arts & Sciences. She has an M.S. in agricultural economics from Michigan State University and a Ph.D. in economics from the University of Massachusetts.

Baird's work builds upon community-based partnerships to enhance information about election-related issues for voters and bring awareness of public affairs to the community at large. Recently she joined a research team to examine the effect of drop boxes on voting patterns in King County. Her commitment to extending a community-based focus for teaching and mentoring, inside and outside of the classroom, carries large community impact and responsibility, and fosters transformative and engaging experiences for students and lifelong citizen learners.

Baird has served on the City of Tacoma Board of Ethics and the Pierce County Charter Review Commission.

Dr. David Reyes is an assistant professor in the School of Nursing & Healthcare Leadership. He has Master of Nursing, Master of Public Health and Doctor of Nursing Practice degrees from the UW School of Nursing.

Reyes' work champions community-based participatory research in a way that shapes community priorities into livable and actionable changes. He worked with the Tacoma-Pierce County Health Department in East Tacoma to give community members a voice in the community health assessment process. The impacts of the participatory research approach, in combination with teaching and service, are truly impressive and evident by local, regional, and national recognitions he has received.

Reyes has held leadership roles in the American Public Health Association, the American Association of Colleges of Nursing, the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and the Washington State Public Health Association.

DISTINGUISHED RESEARCH AWARD

This award is to recognize a faculty member who has achieved a record of notable scholarship or creative activity, has generated new knowledge or creativity that impacts their intellectual discipline, and has contributed to the intellectual climate of the UW Tacoma campus and its communities.

Dr. Edward J. Kolodziej has been with UW since 2014 and currently has a joint appointment as an associate professor in Civil and Environmental Engineering (Seattle) and in the School of Interdisciplinary Arts & Sciences (Tacoma). Kolodziej's research includes achievements in the areas of water quality and contaminant fate and transport. With university and government agency colleagues, he is systematically developing new methods to detect contaminants in stormwater run-off. He also engages with local and regional water quality efforts through the Center for Urban Waters. The committee recognized his impressive record of serving as the principal investigator on research grants and acknowledged his extensive publications in high-impact peer review journals and service on advisory and journal editorial boards.

Kolodziej has degrees in chemical and environmental engineering from Johns Hopkins University and the University of California, Berkeley.

DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARD

The award recognizes a faculty member who demonstrates a mastery of their subject matter, the ability to engage diverse students both within and outside of the classroom, and strives for innovation in course design.

Tanya Grace Velasquez, '98, '11, has been a member of the faculty at UW Tacoma since 2011 and currently is a Senior Lecturer in Sociology with the School of Interdisciplinary Arts & Sciences. Her teaching is recognized for using high-impact, community-engaged teaching practices and individualized, long-term mentoring. Ms. Velasquez integrates knowledge of community and diversity into teaching and learning in the classroom and beyond. The committee recognized that her commitment to equity and excellence is at the very heart of what she brings the campus community.

Velasquez is a graduate of UW Tacoma, with degrees in ethnic, gender and labor studies and interdisciplinary studies. She teaches courses in sociology, race and ethnicity, migration and social justice. She is a leader on campus and in the community on first-generation student initiatives.

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH MENTOR AWARD

Students participating in UW's tri-campus Undergraduate Research Symposium nominate their mentor for special recognition. Five faculty members are chosen to be honored this year.

Dr. Sharon Laing currently serves as an assistant professor of nursing and healthcare leadership at UW Tacoma and adjunct assistant professor in the School of Public Health at UW in Seattle. She is committed to community-based health research evaluating the intersection of socio-cultural, psychologic, environmental, and patient-health-status factors. Her mentees praise her emphasis on "skills like inquisitiveness, humility and teamwork," her ability to build confidence in her students and her dedicated commitment of time to advising her mentors.

She received her BA in Psychology from McMaster University in Canada and her MS in Developmental Psychology from Howard University. She obtained her PhD in Developmental Psychology from Howard University. Laing has engaged in health services research targeting cancer prevention/control and workplace wellness. Her current research focuses on digital healthcare management for low-resourced and rural populations.

DISTINGUISHED LIBRARIAN AWARD

This annual award from UW recognizes a librarian whose contributions advance the mission of the Libraries and the University in the areas of teaching, learning, research and innovative approaches to practice.

Justin Wadland has worked as a librarian at UW Tacoma since 2003, and currently serves as the Interim Director, UW Tacoma Library and Associate Dean, University Libraries. He worked extensively in digital scholarship and helped establish UW Tacoma Digital Commons, the campus institutional repository. Wadland is author of the Washington State Book Award-winning "Trying Home: The Rise and Fall of an Anarchist Utopia on Puget Sound" and has contributed to HistoryLink.org several articles connected to UW Tacoma campus history. With his collaborators Dr. Charles Williams and Joan Hua, he is currently working on an oral history on the founding and development of the UW Tacoma campus that will be completed this summer for the 30th anniversary of campus. Wadland is the first UW Tacoma librarian to win the UW Distinguished Librarian Award.

ABOUT THE MACE

University of Washington ceremonial occasions begin with the entrance of the University Mace, carried by the faculty marshal, Dr. Joseph Janes, Associate Professor, Information School. A mace was originally a weapon used by mounted knights for protection. It since has become a symbol of authority indicating that the proceedings to follow have official sanction. The current mace was presented to the University by the Alumni Association in 1961.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic dress worn by scholars originated in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars usually were clerics as well, and they adopted dress similar to that of their monastic orders. Buildings were cold and drafty, so caps and warm, floor-length capes with hoods were necessities. As control of education passed from the churches, the dress was modified in various ways, and there was great diversity in the color and style of cap, gown and hood worn at different institutions. In 1895, a standardized code of academic dress was established that is followed by most colleges and universities in the United States.

At the University of Washington, the bachelor's and master's gowns are black. The doctoral gowns are purple with purple and gold hoods and are distinguished by three velvet chevrons on each sleeve. The matching mortarboard or tam has a long tassel, and is worn over the left side of the cap. The colors of tassels or hoods are distinctive of the candidate's academic program (in most cases). Honor cords identify students who are graduating with academic honors and are worn loosely around the neck and hang down in the front.
